CLEAN UP YOUR ACT

Many of today's naturally scented cleaning supplies are environmentally friendly, too. Murchison-Hume's products use technology developed to mop up ocean oil spills without toxic chemicals; they're now available for smaller-scale interior disasters (above, "Heirloom" Dishwashing Liquid; anthropologie.com). Seventh Generation (seventhgeneration.com) makes the first EPA-registered natural disinfectant. Method (methodhome.com) superconcentrated laundry detergent is the first to earn certification from Cradle-to-Cradle, an organization that assesses the environmental intelligence of consumer products. We also applaud cleaners from The Laundress (thelaundress.com) and Mrs. Meyer's (mrsmeyers.com).
